SUBJECT:

REMARKS:

Though I do not normally do so, it seemed to me that my 7 April conversation with Secretary Laird covered a couple of topics of sufficient moment to warrant dictating a quick memo for the record. I have already touched on the highlights of this session over the phone, but thought you might want to take a quick glance at the attached for atmospherics and details. This memo is going nowhere, save my own personal file. In light of our recent exercise of pulling together things for President Johnson, however, I am trying to make some sort of notes at the time on conversations or activities we might conceivably need to refresh our memory on at some future date.
